

Abstract

The present invention relates to a transdermal system comprising:

- a) a cover layer (1),
- b) an active-ingredient-containing polymer layer (3),
- c) an optionally active-ingredient-containing adhesive layer (4),
- and

- d) a protective layer (5), characterised in that the active-ingredient-containing polymer layer (3) comprises hydrophilic and/or water-soluble polymers.

Publ. No. 2006/000000